Acura's are some of the top rated cars in the industry in terms of safety runs, and that's one of the most important things I love about my car. I feel like I'm driving around in a beautiful steel cage that will protect me at all costs. The quality of the leather in the seats is beautiful. All they used to make these cars is top of the line. I live about two hours away from the beach, and a few weeks ago I decided to randomly go to the beach for a day. The car did well on the road, and I really got to see how good it is at gas. The body is very smart and commands attention. I love the trunk, and I especially love how fast this car can go by pressing the gas. The starting speed in this car is amazing! One of the most important things I love about my car is its appearance. The body is very smart and commands attention. I love the trunk, and I especially love how fast this car can go by pressing the gas. The starting speed in this car is amazing! The main negative of my car is the space in the back seat of the car. There is virtually no legroom for anyone, even if they are 5'5 and lower. I feel like it might as well not have the back seat. If you need to put bags on the floor of the back seat (e.g. grocery bags), it is easy to fill that space up with three bags. I love the way the radio display looks. The font is so old-fashioned and reminds me of the font of a Honda from the late nineties. For Acura's to be luxury cars, they could have improved it in a 2014 car.
